Externalized within, bordering processes in Ceuta & Melilla

7 December 2022, 4.00-5.30 PM

The notion of 'externalized within' traces the social transformations that follow from Ceuta and Melilla becoming frontlines of Fortress Europe. Nina Sahraoui mobilise the concept of everyday bordering in order to shed light on the links between externalisation and the micro-level social consequences of this process for the undocumented residents of Moroccan origin in the Spanish enclaves of Ceuta and Melilla.

The presented paper explores how politics of exclusion become exacerbated in places where migration control is entangled in multiple layers of externalization.

Nina Sahraoui is Marie Skłodowska-Curie Fellow at the Paris Centre for Sociological and Political Research (CRESPPA, CNRS). Her publications include the monograph Racialised Workers and European Older-Age Care: From Care Labour to Care Ethics (Palgrave Macmillan, 2019), the edited volume Borders Across Healthcare (Berghahn Books, 2020) and the co-edited volumes Gender-based Violence in Migration (Palgrave, 2022) and Postcoloniality and Forced Migration (Bristol University Press, 2022).

The online lecture series is open to the public and is aimed at researchers, students, and the interested public.
